ICIN 2009 – Registration Now Open New Venue Announced

BORDEAUX, 16 JULY 2009: ICIN 2009 has changed venue, remaining in the historic Chartrons district of Bordeaux but upgrading to a 4-star hotel. The Mercure Château Chartrons will host ICIN 2009 from 26 to 29 October.

The ICIN 2009 conference Beyond the Bit Pipes focuses on new content and services, generated by service providers, users and other application and media providers, which will fill the high capacity bit pipes currently being deployed by telcos.

Online registration is now open at Early Bird rates and discounted accommodation offers are available at the conference venue.

The papers reporting the latest industry research which have been selected for presentation at ICIN 2009 are listed in the Advance Programme.

The opening session explores Evolving Business Models in a Converging Communications Environment with industry leading keynote speakers:

- Thomas Aidan Curran, Chief Technology Officer, Products & Innovation, Deutsche Telekom, Germany
- Martin Geddes, Head of Strategy, BT Design, UK
- Vikram Saksena, Executive Vice President and Chief Technology Officer, Tellabs, USA
- Yoshio Yasumoto, Executive Engineer, Panasonic Corporate R&D, Japan

Pre-conference events on Monday 26 October include tutorials on Identity Management in IP Networks and Web Technologies for Telecom and a workshop on The Changing Landscape of Standardisation.
